Muriel Weidenfeld, Lesley Kreimer: Only Greenbelt Winners in Primary

by Elaine Skolnik

Although our hometown candidates led the field in several Democratic races in Greenbelt, areawide they did not fare well in the September 12 primary. Except for the non-partisan Board of Education contest where Muriel Weidenfeld and Lesley Kreimer will be squaring off in November, no Greenbelters of the Democratic faith will be on the ballot.

In a heartbreaker, Anthony McCarthy, a native son, lost his first bid for political office by only 120 votes in the House of Delegates race. Winners of the three seats were Bowie residents Gerard Devlin with 5,811 votes, Joan Pitkin, 4,638 and Charles Ryan 4,592. McCarthy's total was 4,472 and Mayor Richard Pilski pulled 3,638 votes.

However, in Greenbelt Pilski garnered high vote - 1,347, McCarthy-1,261, Devlin-1,172, Pitkin-1,087 and Ryan 858. (See separate box on pg. 3).

Greenbelter Alan Virta, unopposed in the Republican primary for the House of Delegates will be on the ballot in November.

Board of Education

Muriel Weidenfeld captured the top vote in both the Greenbelt and the entire Second District of which Greenbelt is a part) with 1,404 and 2,647 votes respectively in the non-partisan Board of Education contest. Lesley Kreimer, who collected 1,125 votes in Greenbelt and a total of 2,503 votes areawide, will be facing Weidenfeld at the polls in the general election. Greenbelt gave John Brunner 498 votes, his Second District total was 1,698.

In this contest, the Greenbelt vote (3,027) was 44.2% of the entire Second District (6,848).

Greenbelt Candidates

Although a high vote getter in Greenbelt, councilman Thomas White lost his bid for a seat on the Democratic Central Committee for the 24th Legislative District. Lloyd James, also was an unsuccessful candidate for Central Committee. Blocked in his quest for a councilman at large seat was Democrat John Lally. John Lee Ball Jr. met a similar fate seeking the county executive slot. In the Republican primary Francis Porter, running mate of gubernatorial aspirant Carleton Beall, saw his hopes dashed.

Other Contests

In the hotly contested State Senate race, Edward T. Conroy was the victor. His tally for the entire 24th Legislative District was 5,052, while challenger Leo Green garnered 4,538 votes. In Greenbelt, however, Green edged past Conroy by 29 votes.

Congresswoman Gladys Spellman trounced her opponent Davis J. Tomasini in the Democratic contest for the House of Representatives. Her challenger will be Republican Saul J. Harris. The race between County Executive Winfield Kelly and Republican Larry Hogan is expected to be bitterly contested.

The councilmen-at-large slots went to Francis Francois, Sara Ada Koonce, Deborah Ragland Marshall, Sue Mills, David Hartlove, Jr., and Floyd Wilson, Jr. Frank Casula carried the seat in the first Councilmanic District. The Republicans in these races were unopposed.

In the Democratic race for governor, Greenbelt did not follow the pattern of the county which, in turn, was out of step with the State. Greenbelters favored Ted Venetoulis/Ann Stockett; - Prince Georges county gave the nod to Blair Lee and Steny Hoyer but, in the State, Harry Hughes and Sam Bogley reaped the harvest. The Hughes/Bogley team will face the Republican standard bearers J. Glenn Beall and Aris Allen.

Voter Turnout

About 3132 Greenbelters voted in the primary - 2544 Democrats, 522 Republicans and 66 Unaffiliated. This represents about a 40% turnout for the Democrats and a 27% turnout for the Republicans. Registered voters in the city's four precincts totaled 9,462. However Greenbelt's newest precinct, 21-13, where Greenbriar and Windsor Green residents vote, also includes apartment developments outside the city limits.

The North End precinct had the highest turnout - Democrats 51.6%, Republicans 34.6%. Springhill Lake had the poorest showing - Democrats 28.4% and Republicans 19.6%.

Council and Advisory Committee Tour Elderly Housing Construction Site

by Edith Beauchamp

At their first official site inspection of the elderly housing project, Tuesday, Aug. 29, the city council and the Elderly Housing Advisory Committee expressed enthusiasm at the progress in construction.

The "tour guide" and senior architect for the project, Stephen L. Parker of Lawrence and Grimm Architects, expects the work on the outside of the building to be completed sometime near the end of October or beginning of November, and the entire project should be completed sometime in February, a little over a year after the initial ground-breaking.

Harsh weather last winter was the cause of many delays on the project. Construction was also halted when an old sewer line not appearing on any charts of the property was uncovered and had to be rerouted. The construction crew had another surprise when they unearthed an old loading dock, again delaying the project.

Parker assured the Council that the time was made up during the spring and summer and the project is virtually back on the original timetable.

The Outside

The outer cinder block structure of the building is complete, the roof is nearing completion, and the windows and outer doors have been installed.

A relatively new substance known as "Thorseal" is being applied as a finish on the outside walls of the building. Stucco-like in appearance, it is applied in four coats and according to Parker, should last approximately 15 years before a new coat is needed. He added that the top coat could be patched at any time, for instance to cover graffiti, and it would blend right in.

Those present at the inspection seemed pleased that the beige color of the "Thorseal" and the general design of the building would look very similar to the neighboring GHI homes. Councilmen Charles Schwan and Thomas White were also pleased to note that the roofline of the four-story structure is fairly level with the adjacent GHI houses because of the contour of the land.

The Inside

The interior required a little more imagination to visualize what's to come. The studding for the walls is in place, which gave an impression of the floor plan.

There are two basic designs for the 100 individual apartment units. One model, for handicapped residents, features a drive-in shower to accommodate a wheel chair and has other modifications to make it easier for a handicapped person to care for him/herself. These units are all located on the basement level. The other models have a tub bath, and storage cabinets under the sink in the bathroom, but in most other respects are similar to the handicapped apartment.

Both models have a single bedroom large enough for a double bed or two twin beds. They have a full kitchen, a dining-living room area, a large walk-in closet between the bedroom and bath, and a linen or coat closet off the hallway. The bathroom has a second entrance off the hallway also.

The elderly housing facility has a small library, lounge area and a clinic for medical services on the main floor. There is also a multi-purpose room, laundry, craftshop, dining room, with a seating capacity of 75, a game room, greenhouse, and several other lounge areas within the building.

The housing facility has thorough fire-safety precautions. There is an extensive sprinkler system already installed throughout the building: in every room of each apartment unit, throughout the hallways and every public room, and through the attic. In the hallways, the access doors will be held open by an electronic mechanism, but there are smoke detectors within the doors which will automatically close them if smoke is present. The studding within the walls is aluminum, partially because wood studding is too costly, but also to promote fire safety.

The choice of windows was an issue a number of months ago, and the ones that have been installed are the best available of their kind according to the architect. The lower portion of the window can be rotated out almost horizontally by a handle to facilitate cleaning. The upper portion is permanently sealed, and has a double pane for added insulation.

Council's Impressions

The four council members present, Richard Castaldi, Charles Schwan, Gil Weidenfeld, and Thomas White, all seemed genuinely pleased with the construction of the project so far. Castaldi claimed he was "very impressed" with it, and Schwan said, "I think all of us who were present - with some difficulty because it's not finished - got an appreciation of what it will look like."

There were only two objections raised during the whole tour by either the city council or the Ad- See ELDERLY HOUSING p. 8

ABP Indicates Concern About Rezoning Petition

by Leta Mach

A petition to rezone five acres of land C-S-C (Commercial Shopping Center) caused concern at the September 6 meeting of the city's Advisory Planning Board (APB). After discussion, APB decided to invite the owners of the property and any possible developers to meet with them and discuss their plans on Wednesday, September 20.

The triangular-shaped parcel is located south of Greenbelt Road between the future Greenbelt East commercial development and Hanover Parkway. Currently the land is zoned R-R which provides for single family dwellings - one per 20,000 feet. In the master plan an institutional use of the property is shown; it is designated as an area for a church. The owners of the property, Ewing-Smith, have designated the developers of Greenbelt East as contract purchasers of the parcel. The owners feel Hanover Parkway should be the dividing line between commercial property on the west and residential property on the east. The land on the east of Hanover Parkway between it and the Windsor Green development is zoned R-10 (high-rise residential).

The owners note that the Greenbelt East developers would improve Hanover Parkway to a six lane dual road to the end of the property. Since access to Greenbelt East is on Greenbelt land, the city would require that the full width of Hanover Parkway be built to carry the extra traffic of a shopping center. The developers already have the right to build a driveway through the parcel they wish to acquire and a 70 foot wide roadway at the southern edge of the property.

Members of APB were concerned about the possible uses to which the parcel could be put. Eileen Turner felt the rezoning would be "detrimental to the interests of the community." The present owners, however, feel "the proper land use for the subject parcel is a continuation of the Greenbelt East Shopping Center."

On April 4, a sewer allocation was approved for Greenbelt East. Off site improvements such as topography drawings and site plans are being worked on presently. Tenants are also being sought for the office building. The 33 acre tract is located just east of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and south of Greenbelt Road. Because of its unique visibility from both the Parkway and the Beltway it has been called a "hot piece of property."

Greenbelt East is also on the agenda of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission on September 14.

Recreation Review

Women's Flag Football

Action in the Women's Flag Football can be seen every Sunday, on Braden Field, from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon. Spectators are urged to come down and cheer their favorite team on to victory.

Class Openings

There are still openings in many Fall Recreation Classes which will not begin until the week of September 25. Class space is available in Yoga, Slimnastics, Stretch Exercise, Trampoline, Tumbling, Dance, Dramatics and others. For further information, call the Recreation Department, Mon.-Fri., 9-5 pm, 474-6878.

Volleyball

Co-recreational volleyball, both competitive and recreational, is played at the Greenbelt Center Elementary School Gymnasium. Competitive games are played on Monday evenings and recreational on Wednesdays. Both are from 8:30-10:30 p.m. for those 16 years of age and over. A nominal fee will be charged at the door. Everyone is welcome.

WANTED:

Blood Donors

Red Cross Bloodmobile, Sept. 23, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at St. Hugh's Catholic Church, 135 Crescent Rd. (next to the fire house). Donate to the group coverage plan of your choice. Sponsored by Greenbelt Lions Club.

Police Blotter

A resident of Springhill Lake was accosted and raped as she parked her car early one morning. The attacker threatened her with a knife. Lookouts have been issued.

A resident of Springhill Lake reported that as he drove into the development, his vehicle was chased by another with three persons in it. The people in the second car threw items at the victim's car, forced him to drive over a curb, and when he was finally able to leave his vehicle to call for help, the others broke his windshield with a club. No motive is known for their actions. The three persons, two males, one from the District of Columbia and one from Virginia, and a female from Hyattsville, were brought to the station, charged with destruction of private property and transported to Upper Marlboro.

A vehicle stolen from Laurel was recovered by PFC Craddock recently. A motorcycle stolen from the Center was recovered a short time later by Officer Murray. A vehicle stolen from Lanham was recovered by PFC Blake near Eleanor Roosevelt High School.

Musical In Annapolis

The Prince Georges Philharmonic will present a musical program at the home of former Greenbelters Dr. and Mrs. William Weintraub, 1845 Carriage Dr., Lindamoor-on-the-Severn, Annapolis on Sun., Sept. 24 from 1 to 5 p.m. Featured will be entertainment by woodwinds, brass and strings as well as many "nautical" and "gastronomical" surprises. Call 261-1275.

A Job Well Done

To the Editor

This summer I received a most unusual offer. A young man, a student at Eleanor Roosevelt High School, asked if he could volunteer his services to do work in the city offices during the summer. He indicated that because of a variety of family and other commitments, it was not possible for him to take a summer job but he did want to do something useful with his free time during the vacation. I readily agreed and except for the time that he was away on trips, he regularly worked each day two or more hours.

The tasks which he performed were varied and ranged from simple "go fetch" type jobs to drafting some information materials to be sent to persons interested in residing in the City's elderly housing facility. Some of the other tasks he performed were inserting Council approved figures in budget books, making signs and otherwise assisting in the preparation for the Edgar L. Smith Wing dedication ceremony and open house, and printing certificates of appreciation to be given out to Advisory Board members who have resigned during the year.

Besides his volunteer services with the City, this young man has also served the community as a reporter for the Greenbelt News Review, and over the past several months the News Review has carried a number of articles with his byline. They have all been well written and insofar as I am familiar with the matters covered by the articles, they have been accurate.

Besides these two volunteer services, it is my understanding that he has been active in a variety of other school and community activities. Because I feel his service to the City deserves special recognition, I would appreciate your printing this letter in the News Review so that the citizens of Greenbelt will become aware of the volunteer help given to the City by Carl Choper.

Thank you, Carl, for a job well done.

M-NCPPC Budget Forum

The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission will hold three budget forums on planning, parks and recreation programs for the July 1979-1980 fiscal year.

The Northern area hearing will be held Thursday, Sept. 21 at 8 p.m. at the Park and Recreation Administration Building, 6600 Kenilworth Avenue, Riverdale.

The format of the forum will be slightly different than that of a regular public hearing. People will be able to provide comments to commissioners and staff members at one of several tables. This will allow more direct contact with the staff and prevent people having to wait a long time to testify. Time will be allocated at the end of these informal table sessions for anyone to address the entire group.

Dial 911 for Fire/Rescue

by Wayne Lewis

Upon the completion of the new addition to the fire department building, the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad plans to introduce several changes within its organization.

One of these changes will be the separating of the Fire and Rescue services. New members entering will be given the choice of working with either the Fire Fighting Division, the Rescue Division, or working with both divisions. In the past a member had no choice and had to train in both areas. With the completion of the new addition, there will be separate facilities for both male and female members which will allow female members who may wish to ride the ambulance to sleep at the station. This would allow us more flexibility on certain rescue calls where a female figure may be beneficial.

During the second week of October, we will be celebrating Fire Prevention Week. Just what is Fire Prevention? What can you do to help with fire prevention? These are some of the questions to be answered in next month's articles. Remember, FIRE PREVENTION WEEK — OCTOBER 8 - 14.

E. Roosevelt PTSA

Eleanor Roosevelt Senior High School will hold a Back to School Night on Tuesday, September 19 at 7:30 p.m.

The program will consist of a general meeting in the auditorium with short presentations by the school staff, student leaders, and president of the Boosters Club and PTSA. Following the general meeting there will be classroom visitations.

Benefit Car Wash

The Pilgrim Fellowship of Greenbelt Community Church is holding a car wash on Saturday, September 16, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Cars should be brought to the church at the corner of Hillside and Crescent (around the back) for their fall cleaning.

THANKS

To the Editor:

The Greenbelt JAYCEES want to thank the following businesses and organizations who contributed to our success, as well as to the success of the overall Labor Day Festival: The manager and assistant managers of the Co-op and Nyman Realty, Inc., who permitted us to store various supplies in their buildings; McDonald's and Gino's, who donated cups and napkins; the Greenbelt Police Dept. and the Public Works Dept., who provided invaluable services to us throughout the Labor Day weekend.

We also want to congratulate the Labor Day Festival Committee for making this 24th annual event the best ever. A very special note of congratulations is extended to Connie Becraft, the 24th Miss Greenbelt, whom we had the honor of sponsoring for this pageant.

CITY NOTES

The following reflects a month: Last week, the general crew dismantled and stored the Labor Day Festival booths. All summer part-time employees have returned to school and city officials feel that the youths worked well this year.

Besides cutting grass on the ball-fields and golf course, the park crew installed goal posts at the Braden Football Field. The crew cleaned the carnival area and other public areas during the Festival.

The refuse crew collected paper last Thursday. A total of six tons, 1,540 lbs. was taken to River Road Salvage. Beginning this week, the Prince Georges Scrap Company will resume collections. The total refuse disposed during the month of August amounted to 232 tons.

Crosswalks and turn lines were painted on Cherrywood Lane at Breezewood, on Crescent Rd. east of Southway and on Hanover Parkway near Greenbelt Rd. At the center, several benches were installed and a parking stall reserved for the handicapped was marked. The park crew is installing rip-rap (rock facing along the shoreline) on the peninsula of the Lake. The new CETA people are on the crew replacing others who have left. Wood chips were used to improve the path through the woods from St. Hugh's parking lot to the fire-house.

Several members of the crew cleaned pedestrian underpasses and debris was cleaned from roadsides, storm sewer catch basins and grates.

The park crew spent considerable time on the grounds around the municipal building. Chrysanthemums were planted in the planters.

The city's summertime SPEDY program ended Aug. 25.

The paper collection Aug. 16-17 netted 8 tons and 900 lbs.

The special trash pick-up crew has also been busy with brush pickups.

Since many families have been moving out of Greenbelt, there have been many requests for debris pickups.

The Greenbelt Homemakers Club will hold its first fall meeting in the home of Fran Crisman on Wednesday, September 20, at 8 p.m. The topic for the month is "Sugar In Our Diet."

All those who are interested in various phases of Home Economics are encouraged to attend the meetings, the third Wednesday of each month, and participate in the discussion. Some of the topics for the year are: New Looks For Windows, Fabric Update, Stretching Your Food Dollar, Simple Home Repairs, and Clutter Clinic, and various craft workshops. A Craft Open House will be held on October 24 and 25 at Adelphi Mill, time will be announced later. For further information call 345-9032.

Greenbelt Girl Debuts As Dancer In Europe

On September 1, Greenbelter Donna Dambrauskas made her professional debut at Maxin's in Geneva, Switzerland. Donna is on a six month tour with the Tommy Finnan Dance Troupe. After one week's rehearsal in Portugal, the group went to Geneva, where they will be performing for two to three months. The remainder of the tour will take them to Spain, Greece and Egypt. Donna enjoys dancing two shows per night, in the second of which she performs a solo number.

Donna was a 1975 graduate of Parkdale Senior High School. She was also a student and teacher at Eleanor Pernia School of Dance in Beltsville. In 1976 she taught dancing and gymnastics for the Greenbelt Recreation Department. Donna also studied dance at the University of Maryland before moving to New York in September 1977 to further her studies in dance under the well known jazz dance instructor Charles Kelly.

At the Library

Registration for Two Year Olds' stories will begin Mon., Sept. 18. The program will be Thursdays, Oct. 5 through Nov. 9 at 11 a.m. in the Children's Program Room.

Caring for a Home Lawn in Prince Georges County will be featured on Tues., Sept. 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the Meeting Room. Ray Bosmans and Bob Stewart, Horticulture Agents, will present the program cosponsored by the Prince Georges Cooperative Extension Service.

"New Looks for Windows", an interior design class, will be conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service Thurs., on Sept. 21, from 10 a.m. until noon.

New ideas for decorating windows, some incorporating energy saving techniques, and ways to handle problem windows, will be shown. The program will also include information on fabrics frequently used in curtain and draperies, guides to selecting fabrics and their care. Care of window blinds and shades will also be discussed.

The public is invited. No registration is required.

The Library displays for September will be Quilts and Needlecraft by the National Quilting Association, Virginia Williford, Greenbelt; Photographs by Frank J. Neumaier of Greenbelt; and Bells by Di Mar Va, National Bell Association, Louise Moore, Greenbelt.

Book Discussions Resume

All interested adults are invited to join in a series of Thursday morning book discussions at the Greenbelt Library. The first meeting will be Thurs., Sept. 28, at 10:15 a.m. and will run approximately an hour and a half. The book chosen for discussion is Thomas Costain's The Last Plantagenets, copies of which are available in the library. For information please call librarian Ruth Hemphill, at 345-5800.

New Post Office Site Under Study

The Greenbelt Homes, Inc. Board of Directors is seriously considering the sale of Greenbelt Development Corporation land to the federal government for the purpose of building a new post office.

Officials from the post office considered seven different sites in Greenbelt for the post office, and settled on GDC property on the corner of Parkway Road and Crescent Road as the most suitable site. Currently, two rows of garages are located on this site. The garages would have to be torn down in order to build the post office, which would have its entrance on Parkway.

A membership meeting will be called on the near future to decide on the sale. Should the membership turn down the sale of this property to the government, it is likely that the post office would relocate the Greenbelt branch somewhere other than the Center Mall area.

visory Committee. One had to do with the placement of outside vents from the kitchen stoves. The vents are directly below the windows of the apartments above. Several people present were concerned that smoke from a stove would enter the window above, if it were open. The architect, Steve Parker, felt that smoke would rise away from the building, and only under unusual circumstances would it be a problem. The open windows would not be creating enough of a vacuum to pull the smoke in. Councilman Schwan pointed out that with the central air-conditioning and heating units within the facility, the residents probably would not have the windows open that often anyway.

The only other objection came from Councilman Castaldi. "I wasn't too impressed with the way we were handling runoff . . . I'm very concerned with the environment, and I didn't think it was adequate," he said. He did admit that he did not have a chance to inspect the silt trap thoroughly, but he did not like what he could see of it.

Tuesday, Sept. 5, Parker told the News Review that the construction firm, Harkins Builders, has modified the silt trap by digging a few additional trenches in the area. He also pointed out that the system is reviewed often, sometimes weekly, by County inspectors and meets with all County regulations.

Name for the Building

At a work session of the city council, a name was tentatively chosen for the elderly housing facility. The Elderly Housing Advisory Committee submitted several names to the council, the result of extensive polling in the community, and the city council selected "Green Ridge House." The name will be formally adopted at the next city council meeting.

Clinic Begins at PGCC

The fall session of the Children's Developmental Clinic located at the Prince Georges Community College Largo campus is scheduled to begin Saturday, September 23. This clinic provides a special service to children two years old and over who are experiencing developmental problems with learning, coordination and physical fitness. Children with orthopedic handicaps, brain damage and mental retardation can also benefit from this program.

The approach of the Developmental Clinic focuses on a one to one motor development program which is based on what the child can do or what he can learn to do. Services are also offered in the area of language development, reading development and parent education.

There is a fee for the 10 week program. Limited scholarships are available. For further information call Kathy Hinkal at 577-9124 or Dr. Paul Hahn, Clinic Director at 336-6000, ext. 565.

Food Bargains for Seniors

by Blanche Lee

The "No Frills" Committee from Betterment of United Seniors, known as BUS, met with M. Robert Cook, Executive of Cook Stores, at their Capital Plaza Office on August 23. Eight members attended, three from the Greenbelt Golden Age Club: Martin Holly, chairman, Lenora Kimball and Florence Holly. As a result of the meeting Cook agreed to set up a "Senior Citizens"

Food Corner" and Cook store brands at comparable "No Frills prices." Cook also informed the group that his store was offering senior citizens part-time jobs at $3 per hour for bagging food.

BUS will hold its Annual Convention on September 23, at the Student Union of the University of Maryland from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Holly and other members of the Greenbelt Golden Age Club will attend as delegates. Transportation will be provided.
